

Guardian's Code

Seven Directions of Compassion:

South: Looking behind, we are filled with gratitude and extend understanding and compassion to All Our Relations and the Changing Mother Earth.

West: Looking forward, we are filled with vision and recognize that our planet is alive and evolving simultaneously with humanity. We are healing.

North: Looking up, we are filled with strength, and see ourselves in connection to all life forms, and in this, we find true validation of Self.

East: Looking within, we discover peace and accept our roles as responsible co-creators of our reality, extending respect to all sacred points of view as valid and essential to the combined whole.

Below: We come from the Changing Mother and we respect the sacredness of all life and its right of birth to live spiritually free.

Above: We come from Spirit and free ourselves from all attachment to illusional needs to be better than, or less than, and thus experience our authenticity.

Within: We come into this circle to be all that we can be within. We come into this world to be all that we can be, experiencing our total connection - We Are All Our Relations

- and we are peace.

And so it is....
