INTRODUCTION

I began writing about my traditional life philosophy... that of the Quero Apache Tlish Diyan, while I was in high school. Our extended family system and the interaction of life with All Our Relations has grown strong, and now embraces you, nurtures you, and loves you unconditionally. My tradition has been the bedrock of my life, understanding, accepting, loving, helping, and teaching me at every step along my Path of Beauty. From my tradition I learned to put the One - as in All - as the Only, respecting children, elders, and all sacred points of view, give service, be grateful always, give and receive love without judgement, walk my talk with integrity, forgive and find compassion, have a blast living life, and never miss an opportunity for a hug. It is my tradition that keeps me solid in moments of transition, when I am isolated in my shifting perspective for the briefest, yet scarest moments, and guides me when I as-simulate the experiential change. My traditional beliefs not only comfort me, they give me meaning and purpose.

I have found prophecy in the inclusiveness of my extended spiritual family – shii gotah diyi – blood does not define family, though these, too, are included. I have found commonality in the traditions that have come together in people I love. The opportunity to overlap and compare beliefs has brought us to a common ground of understanding, and allowed for discussions of future possibilities. Together, we have charted the effects of earth's evolutionary changes, within the dynamics of Human Relations.

Although the primary teachings I share are from my lineage, in truth they carry many messages echoed by other indigenous earth ways. All were given basic coding to live in evolutionary patterns with earth. The differences that we witness have developed along with specific landscape requirements and protocols, and then by human plays for power. We have the ability and the free will to step outside of the box in these times, and revisit the common nobility of Children of Earth, where power struggle is not part of the harmonic flow of life. Yes, it takes a little work to break the pattern that we have been raised in, but there is a vast growing consciousness spreading across the land and we move into a new way of being.

Perhaps the reversing magma core of the sacred planet we call Esonkñhsendehí will bring these Words of Power to the heart truth of Humanity... we were placed on earth to become all we were meant to be... Human... Humane. In my life, I have submitted to earth's magnetism, and Changing Mother pulls me closer to my truth, day after day.

The Words of Power gathered here, along with the images are to convey the power of my grounding force which I share with you now.

7 INSIGHTS

Words of Power / Yraceburu / 2

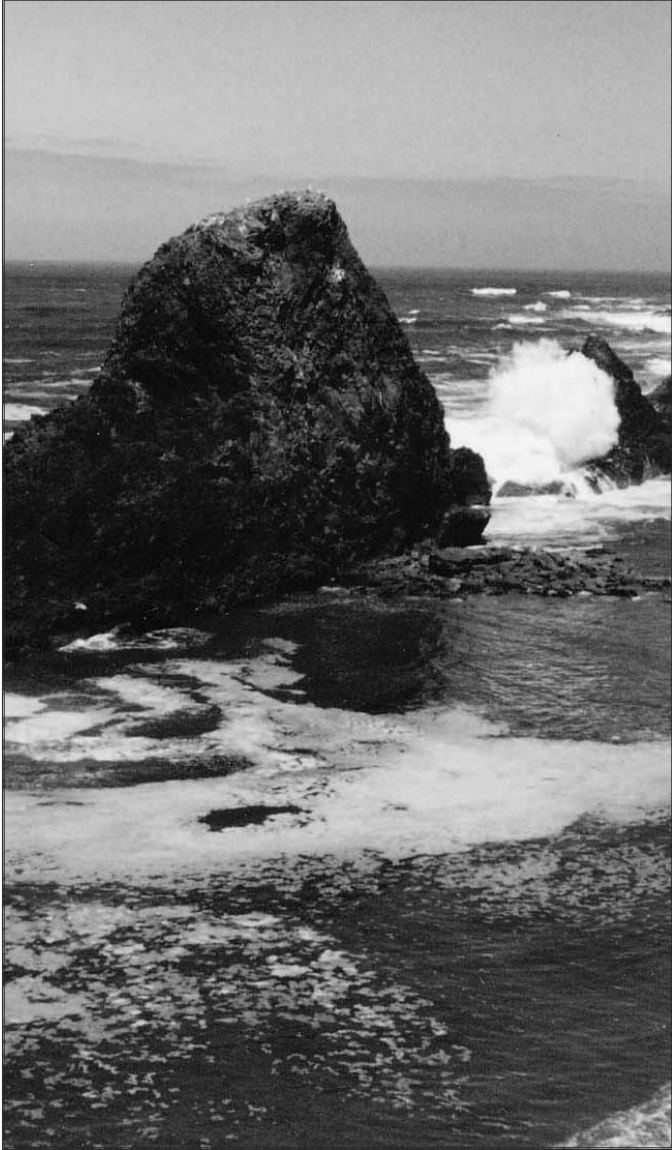

Looking to the South

we see the Rainbow Serpent.

Words of Power / Yraceburu / 4

We are filled with gratitude and extend understanding and compassion

to All Our Relations
and Changing Mother.

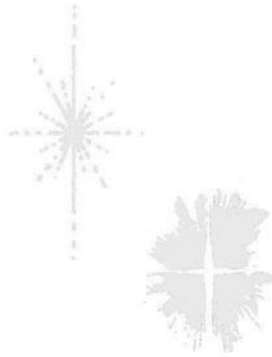

Words of Power / Yraceburu / 6

Words of Power / Yræcebura / 7

Looking to the West

we see Healing Bear.

Words of Power / Yraceburu / 8

We are filled with vision...

and recognize our world is alive and evolving simultaneously with humanity.

We are healing.

Looking to the North we see Thunderhoof the Buffalo.

Words of Power / Yraceburu / 10

Words of Power / Yraceburu / 11

We are filled with strength,

and see ourselves in connection
to all life forms,
and in this, we find true validation of self.

Words of Power / Yraceburu / 12

Looking to the East

we see Yellow Tail the Eagle.

We discover
peace...

and accept our roles
as responsible co-creators
of our world reality,

extending respect to all sacred points of view
as valid and necessary
to the combined whole.

Looking below, we see
we come from the Earth Mother, and the sacredness of all life,

and its right of birth
to live spiritually free.

Words of Power / Yraceburu / 16

Looking above

we see we come from the Sky Father and free ourselves from...

दु'अनि'स्र'मा

all attachment to illusional needs to be better than,

or less than,
and experience our authenticity.

Words of Power / Yraceburu / 20

Looking within...

we see we have come into this circle
to be all that we can be,

and experience our total connection.

We are All Our Relations, and we are peace.

and so it is...

12 AWAKENINGS

Sacred Law of Will, brings earth lessons on how we interact.

Life in the physical teaches us
how to have relation,
not only with other humans,
but with all forms of life.

Grandpa taught me that if there is an atom in motion,
then there is life,
and that life is one of My Relations.

To have respect toward
All Our Relations... to have respect for all sacred paths.

Sacred Law of Enlightenment,

and so we greet Grandfather Sun as he rises.

We say prayers to our Guides and give thanks for the energies of our human nature.
We affirm life.

Our prayers claim authentic co-creatorship and express responsible action in dispelling all shadow created by Fear.

We alleviate self sabotage.

Sacred smoke rituals are offered as we pray, metaphors created within earth reality,
as smoke rises to touch our words upon the sacredness of life.

Living our lives true to our nature,
in this manner creates inner peace,
and good feeling,
to face the challenges of evolution.

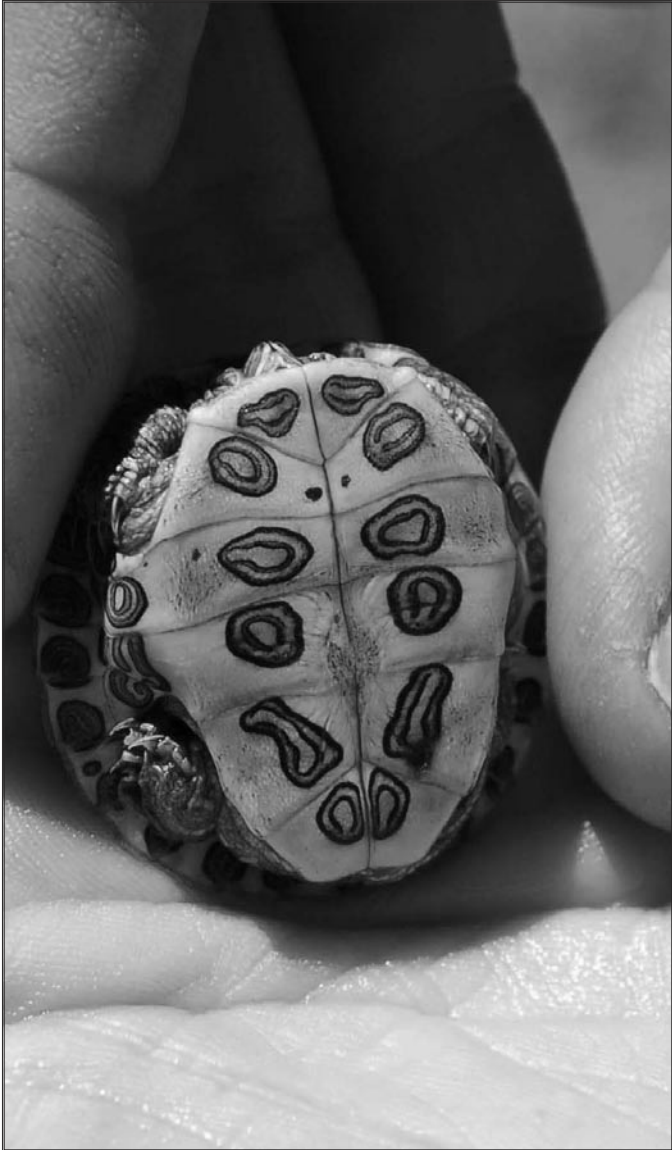

Sacred Law of Love,

we begin to understand that we depend on Changing Mother earth,
and so show her great respect and reverence for all her children.
This energy of evolution reminds everyone of the moment of Creation... remembrance of the Dawn of Time... awakening...
and other lives where we walked the earth.
This energy also creates a conscious way of living by helping us release negative cellular memory from the body, leaving us more receptive to the energies of compassion.
The act of looking for, and believing in,
causes compassion to be found.

Sacred Law of Seeing the special meaning of life.

We chose to live these lives,
in this time and place, to experience creation.
Our lives nourish Changing Mother,
All Our Relations and All That Is.
Life in evolutionary service has taken many turns that are symbolic and special honor is given to those that have chosen this path.
Walking the earth creates life.
